

COACHING AND FACILITATION SKILLS In The Non-Profit, Private and Public Sectors

The AABFS (Arab Academy for Banking and Financial Sciences) is reaching out to non-profit organizations since 2016 to strengthen key partners of the private and public sector in the development of civil society. To this purpose AABFS and NMA (NGO Management Association) made a partnership agreement to offer trainings that respond to the needs of all three sectors.

COURSE OVERVIEW

In today's organisations leaders and managers are increasingly expected to lead, empower, motivate and develop team members through coaching and mentoring. This workshop offers an introduction to the core skills and competencies required, including focused listening, asking effective questions, offering feedback, managing relationships and facilitating meetings.

OBJECTIVES

At the end of the workshop, participants will learn about:

- Key skills and competencies required for coaching individuals and for facilitating a larger group
- Basic coaching model, using active listening skills and asking effective questions
- Key elements of adult learning
- Planning and developing a facilitated meeting for a larger group of people

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

The course will benefit all those interested in improving their leadership skills in developing and empowering others, whether individuals or teams. It would be particularly useful for newly appointed managers and leaders.

- Leaders
- Middle managers
- Human resource professionals

PREREQUISITES

Participants will be expected to be self-reflective and to be motivated by learning and self-development. Those attending will be asked to bring real issues to share in coaching practice, and will be expected to keep a personal reflective learning log during the workshop. Participants will be expected to spend some personal time each day outside of the workshop on reflection or preparation for the following day. Enrolment will be limited to ensure maximum participation.
